CALUMET BAKING POWDER

"BEST BY TEST"

The greatest quality value ever offered in a baking powder. It never loses its strength. It can't fail in the slightest degree; therefore, no waste—no disappointments.

The perfect results it gives—the greatest economy—provide the best means of answering the Food Cost question of today—so far as baking goes.

You Save When You Buy It.
You Save When You Use It.

Made in the largest, finest, most sanitary baking powder factory in existence. Try it. You'll see clearly why it's the world's biggest selling baking powder—why it is given preference by leading Domestic Science teachers, millions of housewives. Once used—no other will satisfy.

PIE CRUST FOR ONE PIE
2 level cups of flour 1 level teaspoon salt
1 level teaspoon Calumet Baking Powder 1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup cold water

How to make it—Sift together the dry ingredients, work in the shortening, moisten to a dough with as little cold water as possible.

Be sure to cut out and paste this recipe in your recipe book for future reference. Of the many thousands of different pie crust recipes, you'll give this "better one" your preference.

NOTE THIS

When you buy a pound of Calumet you get a full pound—16 oz. Some high priced baking powders are now being put on the market in 12-ounce cans instead of a pound. Be sure you are getting a pound when you want it. No short weights with Calumet.

SERGEANT YORKE, TENNESSEE HERO, AWARDED U. S.

Modest Yank From Pail Mall Killed Twenty Huns, Took 132 Captives and Silenced Thirty-six Machine Guns.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Sergeant Alvin C. York, of the 88th Infantry, who at the head of a detachment of 12 men, killed 22 Germans, took 132 prisoners, including a major and three lieutenants, and put 36 machine guns out of operation, arrived here yesterday on the transport Ohioan, wearing the Congressional Medal of Honor and the French Croix-de-Guerre.

Sergeant York's home is in Pail Mall, Tenn., and he was greeted on his arrival by a committee from the Tennessee society of New York, who proposed during his four-day special furlough to show him what the folks back home think of him.

Sergeant York won his honors in the Argonne drive last October. He was then a corporal and was sent out with a detachment of 16 men under Sergeant Early to advance German machine gunners who were endeavoring to protect the advance of a German battalion.

Sergeant York took command. He silenced machine gun after machine gun and when he returned with his prisoners, the proposed German attack had ceased to be even a possibility.

Sergeant York will be the guest of honor tonight at a banquet given by the Tennessee society at which Maj. Gen. George S. Patton, his former divisional commander, will speak. Another guest will be Joseph Cummings, who painted a picture of Sergeant York at the front, by order of the government.

Is Church Elder.

The sergeant, who is an elder in the Church of the Christ and Christian Union at Pail Mall, and was for a time listed as a "conscientious objector" declared it was "the hand of God that guided us all and brought about the victory."

"I feel a heap stronger spiritually than when I went away," he said. "No man could pass through what I have without feeling that way."

Sergeant York said he was considering entering the ministry, but had not yet determined on his future. Discussing the report that he was a conscientious objector, the sergeant said: "I was out on the field at Camp Tippecanoe, and I was a conscientious objector. I was not. I don't approve of taking human life unless it is necessary, but I considered it necessary when my colonel and my captain explained that the fight was for democracy, the peace of the world and for humanity. Then I determined to fight."

From the Waldorf-Astoria where Sergeant York was installed by his friends last night, he talked over the long distance telephone with his mother in the little Pail Mall grocery store, five miles over the Kentucky border. After greeting her, he sent his love to his seven brothers and three sisters.

The first thing that met the eyes of the Tennessean when he was ushered into the room which had been prepared for him was a framed photograph of his mother on the bureau. When he had finished the elaborate dinner spread for him in the great dining room of the Waldorf, Sergeant York announced with satisfaction: "That's the first square meal I've had in over a year and it sure did taste good."

York had little to say about the feat which won him the highest honor medal his country could bestow.

"I kept my automobile in my right hand all the time and my rifle in my left and kept on firing," he said.

Canadian Caribou are Future Meat Supply

OTTAWA, Can., May 22 (Sp.)—Villiam Stefansson's address before the Canadian senate and house recently has focused the attention of economists anew upon the possibilities as a source of meat and leather supply of the immense herds of caribou in the Northern wilds.

Especially impressive was the Arctic explorer's description of the development of the reindeer herds introduced into Alaska by the United States government for the benefit of the Eskimos. The 1,200 reindeer introduced from Lapland into Alaska 20 years ago have increased to more than 100,000. Alaskan caribou herds are estimated to number 7,000,000 reindeer that would produce as much meat as 14,000,000 sheep or seven times the present mutton production of all Canada.

Canada has been unable in the past to utilize the caribou herds as a source of meat supply because of the remoteness of the animals' habitat from railways. This will be rectified by the Hudson Bay road connecting the Pas with Port Nelson at the water. The caribou country begins about 100 miles north of the transcontinental line of the Canadian National railway and extends to the Arctic coast. Chesterfield Inlet, an arm of Hudson Bay, penetrates the heart of it.

With the opening of the Hudson Bay road, it will be possible to ship out caribou carcasses in wholesale quantities. There are according to estimates between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 caribou in northern Canada and the number slaughtered yearly will depend on market conditions. The meat of the animal has the flavor of venison and its hide yields a fine quality of caribou leather.

Y. M. C. A. HAS MONEY FOR TENNESSEE BOYS

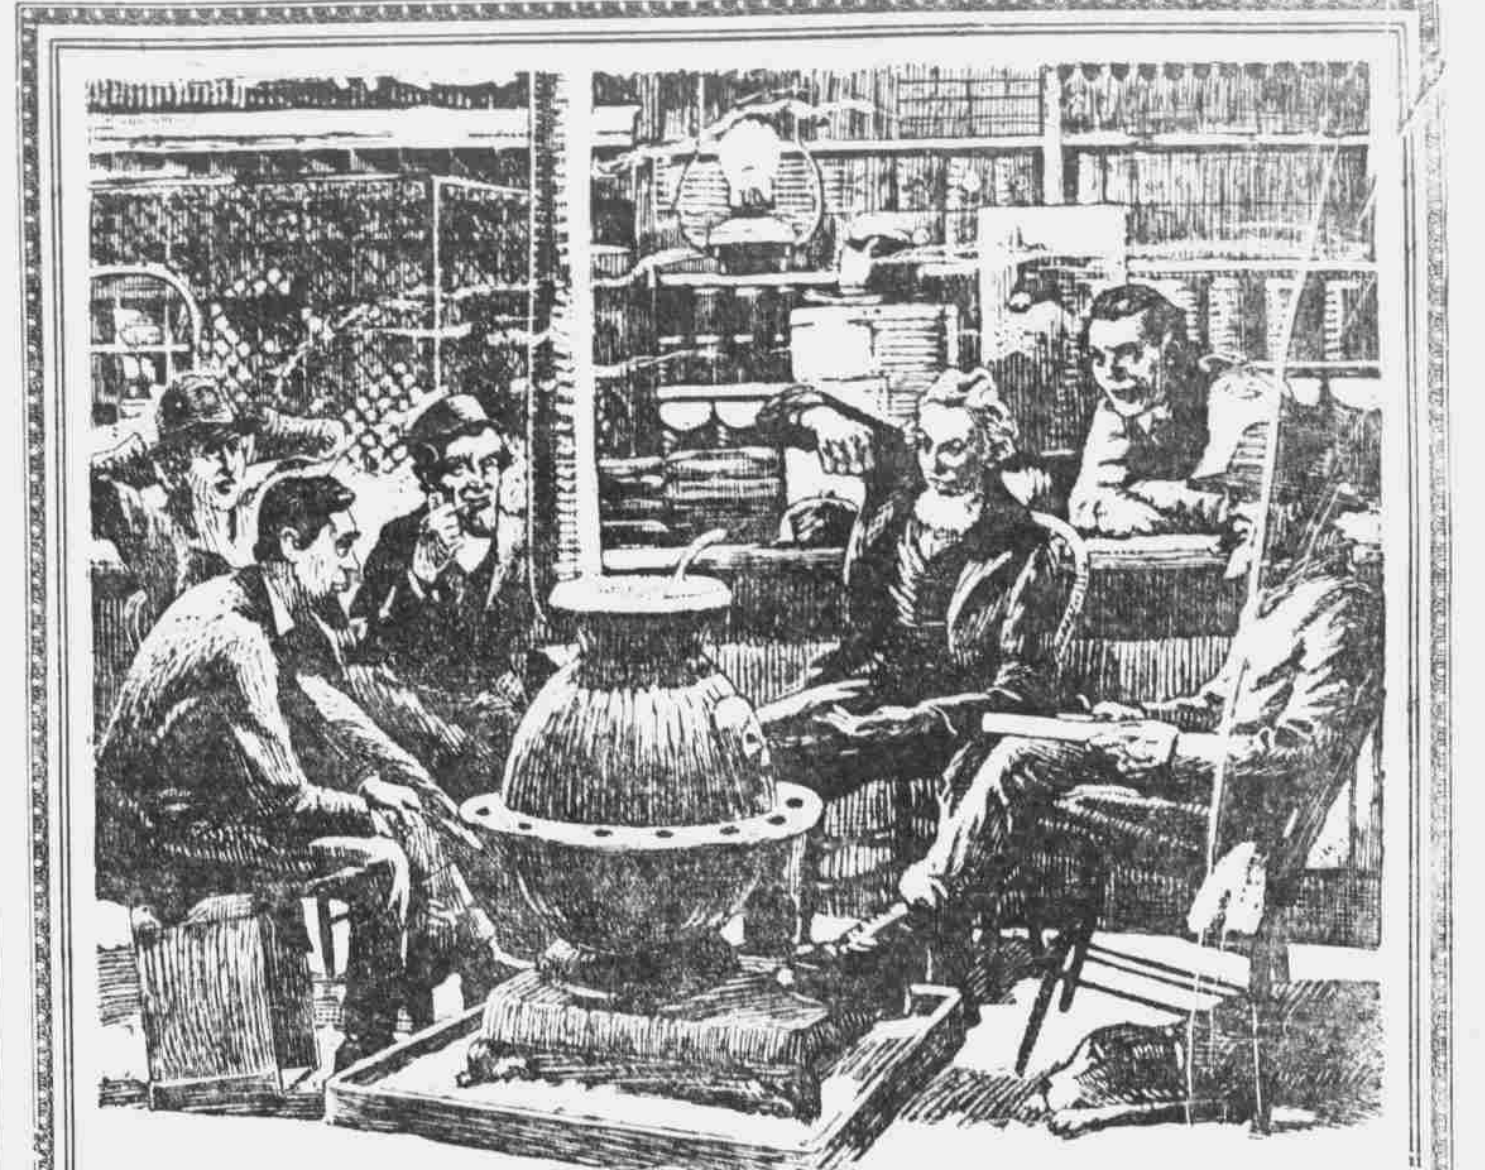

ATLANTA, May 22 (Sp.)—The Y. M. C. A. still is working hard to deliver the remaining remittances from American soldiers, intrusted to that service from overseas, because the Y. M. C. A. not only furnished as safe a medium of transmission as could be found, but also gave no service for nothing. In fact, in transmitting $19,538,729.71 from the soldiers to America, the Y. service saved the doughboys fully $60,000, which otherwise would have had to be paid out on money orders.

And the delivery was accurate and prompt, saving only in cases where incomplete or incorrect addresses or the disappearance of the payee made it difficult to complete the transaction. Because of such reasons, the remittance bureau of the Y. has been unable to locate 1,223 payees with remittances aggregating about $75,000—less than one-third of one per cent of the total amount handled.

The bureau is now searching for the following payees by Tennessee, which has been thus far unable to locate for the delivery of remittances:

Albert W. Cobb, Boardman, Miss; Andrew Connaway, Berclair, J. R. Andrew, Chattanooga; Mrs. P. R. Lavoie, Chattanooga; J. H. Smith, Cookeville; Lillian Paulkner, Copewell; Mary Jane Yella, Gates, Olla; Clara Hickman, Johnson City; Fritz Bodie, Knoxville; Mrs. James Holland, Knoxville; J. E. Stubblefield, Orem; Per P. Carpenter, Prudon; Jessie Hines, Rutledge; Conley R. Seal, Sneedville; W. A. Puryear, Somerville; J. H. Jackson, Sweetwater; Mrs. W. H. Wineberger, Tenois; Joe Kings, Newbern.

LIGHTNING BURNS BARN. COLUMBUS, Miss., May 22 (Sp.)—During a storm which visited this section early Wednesday morning lightning set fire to a barn on the plantation of J. P. Tension, nine miles east of Columbus. The building, together with its contents, went up in smoke. The loss is estimated at $1,000 and is partially covered by insurance.

THE Country Grocery. The rustic melting pot where disciples of an older and less hurried generation settled liquidly all questions of state, for once and forever; where budding Websters spouted their views, and spat with gusto at a sandblast target.

The old type of grocery is all the more picturesque because of the contrast it affords with the modern store, orderly, well designed, clean.

The contrast in bakeries is equally marked. The unsanitary "cellar bakery" is still with us, but it is fast dying out. In its place are coming such bakeries as that in which is baked Betsy Ross BREAD. Sanitary, automatic machinery, white clad workers, white walls and white-tiled ovens—and, lastly, the wax-wrapped loaf—will identify for you the strictly modern bakery, whose product may be relied on to be high quality, clean and correctly baked. Try Betsy Ross BREAD—the finest bread possible to bake.

Middle Aged Women

Women should take warning from such symptoms as heat flashes, shortness of breath, excessive nervousness, irritability, and the blues—which indicate the approach of the inevitable "Change" that comes to all women nearing middle age. We have published volumes of proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest aid women can have during this trying period.

Read About These Two Women:
Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run-down condition. I read of felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and your Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life." Mrs. FRANK HANSON, 1916 South Grand Street, Urbana, Ill.
